Where we are at...

We are a little late with this Newsletter as we have been busy pixel bees: we released two products in June (shown below), but most importantly we started building back an online presence that we had both abandoned and were sorely missing.

We re-opened our DeviantArt account and also opened a Renderhub account. Our Artstation and Instagram accounts are kept as current as possible and we've started piling up free content for the Newsletter. We'll be featuring the first freebie in the next Newsletter together with some big news, so stay tuned!

New releases

Mon Flair Poses

These are cute, stylish poses, part of our expressive standing series.

We're big fans of this kind of poses, in fact, we first and foremost create them for ourselves, for both our promo images (to give them some oomph) and for our art as we like simpler setups, like this one, that focus on the female figure.

Also just released:

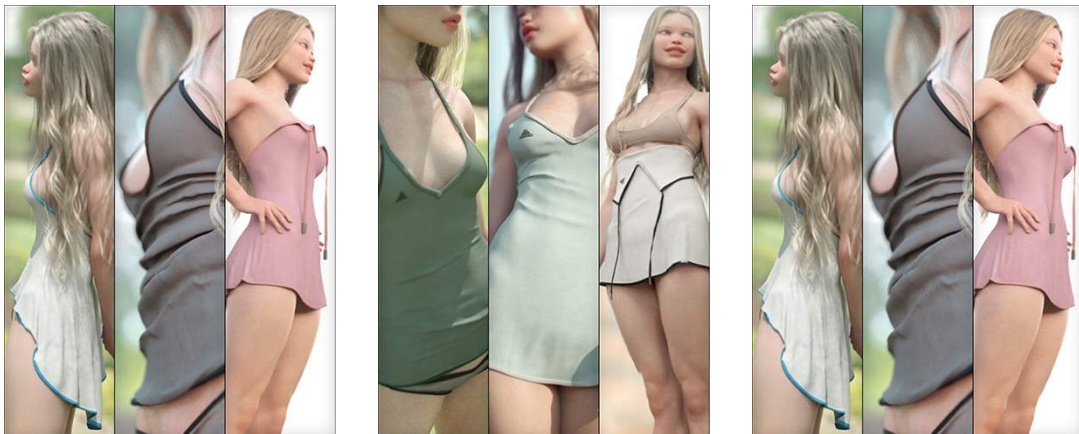

Post-Apocalyptic Styles for City Vibes

We've been working on adding to our Wasteland theme and City Vibes just joined the closet!

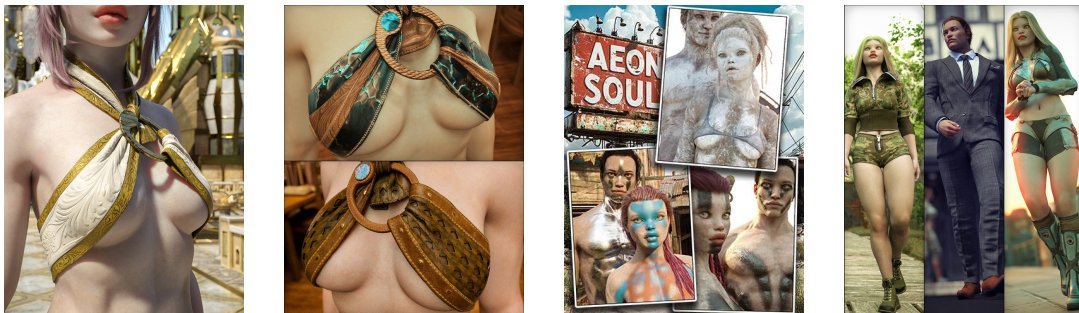

These styles work on both the main outfit and the dress only packages!
